AMHERSTVIEW MEDICAL CENTRE ADDS FAMILY PHYSICIAN

The Amherstview Medical Centre and the Kingston Economic Development Corporation are pleased to welcome Dr. Shalini Jain to the Amherstview Medical Centre.

Dr. Jain has many years of overseas work experience as a Physician. She has recently finished her Residency in Family Medicine at Queen's University. "I am excited to be starting my practice at the Amherstview Medical Centre" said Dr. Jain. "I would like to thank KEDCO for their support and assistance."

The Amherstview Medical Centre currently has a group of five Family Physicians working at the 18 Manitou Crescent West site. The Centre has an on-site laboratory for blood and other sample collection and testing, and there is a nursing facility available for vaccinations. The Centre's modern facility opened 5 years ago and was designed with patient comfort in mind. "We are extremely pleased that Dr. Jain has chosen to join our team and that she will be helping serve the health care needs of the community" said Dr. Craig Pettis, one of the physicians at the Amherstview Medical Centre.

"We were pleased to work with the Amherstview Medical Centre in recruiting Dr. Jain", said Jeff Gouveia, KEDCO Family Physician Recruiter. "We are committed to ensuring access to primary care in the community and this is further indication that our Family Physician Recruitment Program is paying dividends" notes Jeff Garrah, CEO of KEDCO.

Dr. Jain begins her practice in early September. People looking for a Family Physician should complete a "New Patient Form" and return it to the Amherstview Medical Centre at 18 Manitou Crescent West (no phone calls please). New Patient Forms are available at the Centre or can be downloaded from <http://business.kingstoncanada.com/>. Individuals will be contacted by the Centre as openings become available.
